

FEDERAL AGENTS SPEED UP PROBE OF SUGAR PRICE

Gather Evidence Against The Speculators For
U. S. Grand Jury.

SWEEPING INQUIRY INTO PLOT

Brokerage Firms Books To Be Inspected, Refiners
Also Face Probe.

Washington, March 26.—The government's investigation of high sugar prices, ordered by President Harding, was speeded up today when the department of justice instructed U. S. District Attorney Hayward at New York to gather evidence against alleged sugar speculators for presentation to the federal grand jury.

The New York phase of the sugar probe is most vital part of the campaign of Acting Attorney General Seymour to determine if a "criminal conspiracy" is responsible for recent price increases.

Bringing their best legal talent into action, officials of the department of justice plan rapid accumulation of evidence and speedy exposure of the alleged manipulators now blamed for "fictitious" prices.

The government's inquiry is to be made sweeping in character. In view of reports which have reached officials of a plot to force sugar up to 25 cents, if possible, before summer, if it should reach that figure the American people will suffer a loss of more than $1,000,000,000 by the extortion.

Search Broker's Books

Searching inquiry into the books of some of the suspected brokerage firms is under way. Orders also have been issued to ascertain the alleged connection of certain of the sugar refiners, and sugar plantation owners in Cuba.

Some of those who direct the affairs of large refineries, also are listed as owners of Cuban plantations. These individuals lost heavily in the crash of sugar prices about two years ago.

At the department today officials were not prepared to divulge names of such persons who may now be under suspicion. To do this, it was said, would defeat the government's present effort. They will be made known later, however, when the government's case is complete.

Representatives of the beet sugar industry also are to be questioned. Department officials withheld comment upon this and other phases of the probe, but it was evident that the government's legal branch has determined to go into every angle of complaints laid before it, and establish responsibility for the present situation.

PLAN DRAMATIC INSTITUTE HERE

Purposes Outlined, Work Of Organization To Be Started In Fall.

Plans for the establishment of a dramatic institute for the study of dramatic in Salem were formulated Saturday afternoon, when representatives of various social and fraternal groups met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The plan and purpose of the proposed institute were explained by George Junkin, a representative of National Community Service, who was brought to Salem by Ray E. Carter, Community Service executive secretary here.

It is planned not to produce dramatic actors alone, but to furnish a study of the technique of the drama and of the theatre. It is expected that such a course will lead to the permanent establishment of a dramatic field in Salem.

Owing to the lateness of the present season, it was decided not to attempt this work until fall, when it is planned to have Mr. Junkin return here to assist in the organization of the institute.

Director Bristol asks that residents notify the department by calling phone No. 394 and declares that the lights will be put in commission as soon as possible after being notified.

Stenboville, March 26.—While examining a gun which a negro offered him for sale, Madeline Conley, local sportsman, early today shot and killed his companion, Criss Walford, 28, in a lunch room.

Conley had examined it previously when it contained no cartridges. Later he asked to see the gun and was not aware that the negro had inserted the shells.

NORTH POLE VIEWS WILL AID CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S WORK

Capt. MacMillan's Lecture To Provide Fund For Work In Salem.

Those who attend the lecture by Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, and the showing of North Pole scenes at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday will not only be entertained in an unusual manner but will be contributing directly to the Rotary club's fund for caring for crippled children in Salem.

Capt. MacMillan has seldom spoken in a town as small as Salem but he brings his 19,000 feet of films of the North here in order to aid the crippled children movement.

More than 30 cases came under the freedom of the Rotary club as the result of a crippled children clinic many months ago and at present 10 cases under supervision are being treated through the assistance of Miss Hazel Ann, Red Cross nurse.

In the case of one 11-year-old girl, already in need of correction, the consent of the parents has not yet been obtained and the parents of an 8-year-old colored boy will not permit an examination of the child.

One 8-year-old boy, suffering from infantile paralysis, was operated on last November and is now in casts. It is believed that when the casts are removed the boy will be able to walk without crutches for the first time in his life. A 5-year-old boy unable to walk much, now is in a brace and will be operated on later. A 6-year-old boy, crippled since birth, has been operated upon and put in braces and his leg is much stronger.

These and many similar cases are under the club's supervision and the work will be expanded if the lecture Tuesday night proves a financial success.

Everyone In County Has $72 Debt He Didn't Know About

Bonded Indebtedness Of Taxing Districts Totals $1,913,884
And Every Citizen Pays Average Of $29.31 In Taxes.

Every resident of Columbiana time because of efforts to make it county has a debt of $72.02 hanging easier for taxing districts to add over his or her head because of bonded indebtedness of taxing districts in this county. In 1910, this debt amounted to only $24.98.

This is indicated in a compilation by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, who shows that the bonded indebtedness of taxing districts in this county has grown from $1,913,884 in 1910 to $6,059,768 in 1922.

This indebtedness represents bonds issued by the county, cities, villages, townships and schools, but does not include state bond issues.

Inasmuch as this county's population today is computed by census experts to be not more than 84,139, this means that each inhabitant's proportionate share of the total indebtedness amounts to $72.02. This figure is particularly interesting at this time.

TEN IN JURY BOX IN MURDER TRIAL

Tentative Jurors Selected,
Many Opposed To Capital Punishment.

Lisbon, March 26.—The case of the state of Ohio against Edward Johnson charged with the murder of Henry T. Hyatt, Wellsville, the night of Feb. 24, was called for trial in criminal court this morning at 10:49 with Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, presiding.

Of the 23 jurors examined only 10 have been elected tentatively when court adjourned at noon. Those now in the jury box are: Mrs. Charles Mead, North Georgetown; Hazel Van Fossen, East Liverpool; George Panckake, Negley; Mrs. Harry Crooks, Wellsville; Mrs. Elsie Connors, East Liverpool; Mrs. Idella Barber, Winona; Miss Florence Kuss, Salem; C. R. Baxter, Wellsville; Archibald Mullin, East Liverpool; Miss Jeanette Kerr, Yellow Creek township.

Before these women were selected as tentative jurors, the following were examined: Mrs. Anna Goodwin, Thomas H. Carr, B. H. Calkins, Mrs. Nellie H. Flick, Mark Miller, Mrs. Julia Burns, Mrs. George Paulk, Percy Frost, Howard Moalinger, Ella Tate, Mrs. Olive Dunlap, Mrs. Clarence G. Anderson, Ray R. Burchette.

All of the jurors who were examined and excused for cause told the court they had fixed opinions and that they were opposed to capital punishment.

When the jury box is filled with tentative jurors the state has the privilege of exercising four challenges and the defense 16 challenges. Should the 20 challenges be recorded it seems probable that another venire will have to be summoned.

ROBED KLANSMEN MARCH TO PULPIT, GIVE PASTOR $80

Visitors To East Palestine
Church Pledge Their Support To Pastor.

Eleven robed klansmen of the Ku Klux Klan organization marched into the Christian church at East Palestine Sunday night as the pastor, Rev. Dennis Meyer, was about to begin a sermon to "Americans and Protestants."

The klansmen marched down to the pulpit where they greeted Rev. Mr. Meyer and presented him a letter and $80 in money.

Following the presentation the robed men knelt before Mr. Meyer while he offered prayer. They then left the church.

The letter was a most friendly missive expressing appreciation of the stand taken by Rev. Meyer in regard to the Klan and stated that that organization would stand back of the young preacher in his undertakings.

The letter stated that the money was to be used in any way Rev. Meyer saw fit.

Nine hundred people who had assembled in the church to hear Rev. Meyer's sermon witnessed the visit.

College Boys' Prank May Elect Him Mayor.

T. Lambert (Tub) Wyatt

T. Lambert ("Tub") Wyatt, sophomore at the Kansas City university, may be the next mayor of Kansas City as the result of a prank by college boys. The students got up and filed a petition naming Wyatt as a mayoralty candidate. A street parade was held, and the joke campaign began to assume serious proportions, when many voters took occasion to approve Wyatt's candidacy. Because there are many other candidates engaged in factional fighting, Wyatt may secure the nomination. He is 21 years old and captain of the football team.

KING RE-INDICTED FOR STOCK SALES IN NUERA COMPANY

Salem Man And Two Others
Held By Carroll County
Grand Jurors.

Dr. L. W. King, of Salem, K. T. Sanders and Frank J. Cook were indicted for obtaining money under false pretense, when the Carroll county grand jury reported Friday evening at Carrollton.

The men were connected with a company, organized for the alleged purpose of manufacturing at Malvern a pancake flour and which sold stock to several residents of Malvern and vicinity.

The three indictments each contain 2,000 words and are the longest indictments ever returned by a Carroll county grand jury. The three men were re-indicted, the state fearing that previous indictments in Carroll county would not hold.

King is indicted for selling to T. M. Creighton 50 shares of stock at $2 per share, Creighton giving him the note for $1,000, on July 9, 1921, and paying since that time on the note $550.

The indictment alleges that the sale was not authorized by the state; that neither the Nuera company nor King had any authority to sell the stock; that the company was not in good financial standing and not on a paying basis; that the company had a large amount of watered stock; that the stock had no value.

Sanders was indicted for selling four shares of the stock to Al Kihel, and Cook 25 shares to George Auson. The wording of the indictment against these two is similar to that returned against King.

The three men are out on bail under the old indictment. They will probably be arraigned this week.

CHILD SPECIALIST TALKS TO MOTHERS

One hundred women assembled at the First Christian church Sunday afternoon where they heard a most instructive talk on child care and child health by Dr. Thomas, Youngstown child specialist and school doctor of that city, having 27,000 children and his professional supervision.

Dr. Thomas pointed out the important precautions in the care of babies and told something of his work and its magnitude in Youngstown, in his effort to increase the interest of the women in the importance of correct child care.

Girl Steps Into Path Of Knife To Protect Escort

Cincinnati, March 26.—Death may be the price to be paid today by Helen Staffey, 20 years old, for her devotion to her escort, for late last night she was stabbed when she stepped into the path of danger to shield him when he was attacked by a knife wielder.

Miss Staffey was returning from a theater with Edward Host, 21, when they were stopped near her home by the assailant, said to be Roy Walker, residing at the house in which the girl lives.

When the pair was stopped the assailant lifted a long knife and without hesitation Miss Staffey stepped in front of Host as the blade sank deep into her breast a few inches from her heart and without an outcry she sank to the pavement while the armed man lifted the knife again and plunged it into the chest of her dazed escort.

Host wrested the knife from the assailant who fled. His wound is not serious, but physicians at General hospital say that the condition of the girl is critical.

DITTOE IS COMING HERE APRIL 9 FOR WATER CONFERENCE

State Health Engineer To Go Over Plans With City Officials.

W. H. Dittoe, Columbus, chief engineer of the state department of health, will come to Salem April 9, for a conference with city officials and others interested in the water situation in Salem, according to word received by Service Director John Bristol.

Acting upon request of city council, Director Bristol wrote Mr. Dittoe last week asking that he come to Salem at his earliest possible convenience, as council is desirous of getting immediate action on the water question here.

It is expected that the forthcoming conference will help to speed up action on the problem. All data gathered by both Service Director Bristol and the water committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be presented to the engineer for consideration.

Two plans have been presented to city council with regard to the water situation. One presented by the water committee of the Chamber of Commerce proposes the erection of a reinforced concrete reservoir on Newgarden hill. The other was presented by Service Director Bristol and City Engineer French and proposed a 3,000,000 gallon steel tank on Highland ave.

Director Bristol has repeatedly urged that immediate action be taken as under present conditions the city faces an acute situation during the summer months. Unless something is done with regard to an increased water supply, the city will face a shortage by the middle of the summer according to Bristol.

Salem Hero Among First 7 Americans Wounded In Battle

In the recently published list of Salem boys wounded or gassed in the World war, the name of Lester Ritchey was omitted.

Ritchey was not only the first Salem boy but the first Ohio boy to be wounded and was one of the first seven Americans to be wounded. He bears a certificate to this effect, signed by Woodrow Wilson, the certificates being awarded the first seven Americans wounded in the World war.

Lester Ritchey enlisted in Canton in February, 1917, and went overseas with the first American contingent. He was wounded in the hand by a shrapnel that killed one of his buddies in November, 1917. It is said that he has practically lost the use of this hand. He sustained other minor injuries while in service with Company I, 16th infantry.

Woman Burglar Busy, Lisbon Police Think

Lisbon, March 26.—Following the burglary of the Chandler residence Saturday evening, Harley Huffman, of Jefferson st., notified the police late Sunday night that his home had been entered and two valuable rings, a hat belonging to Mrs. Huffman, a watch and a bandana, with a gold chain and a valuable fob, taken.

All the articles but the fob belonged to Mrs. Huffman and it is thought by the police that perhaps the burglar might have been a woman. Neighbors noticed an auto parked at the curb in front of the property but failed to get the number of the license.

The robbery occurred while Mr. and Mrs. Huffman were at church. Entrance was obtained at the kitchen door with a skeleton key. The house was ransacked from top to bottom.

3 PERSONS DEAD, SIX MISSING IN APARTMENT FIRE

Hundred Families Trapped
By Fire In Fashionable Apartment.

SCREAMS OF FRIGHT
AS TENANTS FLEE

Flames Spread To Adjoining
Building, Smoke Cuts
Off Stairway.

New York, March 26.—Three persons are known to be dead, one is dying and six others missing as the result of a fire which swept through the two upper floors of the fashionable apartment house at 322-324 West Fifty-seventh st., early today.

This apartment house is close to that occupied by Miss Dorothy Keenan King, beautiful model, who was recently murdered and whose death has not yet been cleared up.

One of the dead was identified as Miss Bessie Fries, companion of the wife of Joseph M. Callahan, who owned the building.

Another was Mrs. Margaret Lee, 65, and the third, Mrs. Emily Lee.

Mrs. Margaret Lee met a horrifying death. Trapped by smoke and flames on the sixth floor of the building she crawled through a window and clung to the sill. Her strength gave way and she plunged to the street below, meeting instant death.

100 Families In Building

There were 100 families living in the building.

When the blaze was discovered on one of the upper floors it spread with great rapidity and soon clouds of black smoke were rolling through the hallways and billowing from windows. Terrified tenants began rushing from the building while screams of fright filled the air.

Occupants of nearby apartment houses took alarm and fled into the street.

After the firemen had confined the blaze to the two upper floors policemen began checking up the dead and missing.

They had little hope that any of the six missing persons were alive and that the death list probably would reach nine.

There was considerable delay in identifying the third victim, who was known to be dead.

Spread To Other Building

The flames spread to an adjoining building. The structure on the opposite side contains a branch Y. M. C. A. For a time it was seriously menaced.

So rapid was the progress of the fire that three alarms were turned in in quick succession and all police reserves from nearby stations were rushed to the scene. Spectacular rescues were made by firemen and policemen.

One woman, who had taken refuge on the roof, jumped into a life net.

Flames and smoke cut off stairways and soon the windows on the upper floors were filled with the heads of white-faced men and women.

The firemen worked desperately getting up extension ladders and swinging life nets into position.

At the risk of their lives, firemen ran into the smoke-filled halls and apartments, carrying out unconscious men and women.

Four ambulances were rushed to the scene and within a short time first aid had been given to more than a score of persons who suffered from inhalation of smoke or were hysterical from fright.

The Permanent Solution

IN the week that has passed since Gov. Donahay told Mayor Post that he expected him to enforce all laws in Salem, and incidentally to dismiss his chief of police, opportunity has been given Salem's citizens for saner judgment and clearer insight into the future. The News had predicted that the mayor would not be removed when he was called before the governor and it predicts that other developments in this case may follow, but it would impress upon the citizens of Salem that in the final analysis they, and they alone, must offer the permanent solution for the situation that confronts them.

It is silly to argue that had Mayor Post been a big man he would have resigned rather than submit to the demand that he fire Chief Thompson. When the governor made that demand he knew full well that the chief could not be discharged without filing charges and the mayor sensed the situation immediately. He realized that the chief would have no difficulty in being reinstated after his suspension and he played his political hand well by agreeing to abide by the governor's decision. Thompson is to be made the goat by the governor more than by the mayor to the extent of using him for future developments. The News happens to know that the governor did not expect the mayor to resign under those conditions, but that he hoped to worry the chief to the extent of assisting in further developments. And announcement that the state prohibition commissioner is coming to Salem this week is merely in line with that program.

It has been the contention of The News that in a spirit of fair play and justice the recent activities of the city administration should be recognized insofar as they have gone. It did not thereby become the official organ for the mayor or any of his officers. It has not been the official organ for the citizens' committee but it has backed that committee in its efforts to clean up the city. It has acted independently in its plea for cleanliness, decency and law and order. When it recognized the sudden activities at city hall it realized—and it would impress this fact upon all citizens—that that action came only through threats from the governor's office and after revelations brought about by private citizens had failed to have any effect.

In giving recognition to the efforts at law enforcement—the very thing that has been demanded by citizens and governor alike—it must be kept in mind all the time that such efforts were forced upon the officials and while demands are being met in part today it remains for the future to determine just how sincere those efforts are and just how long they will be continued.

What The News meant, therefore, in declaring that the mayor will have met the demands of the governor by suspending his chief and calling for law enforcement, was that such action in itself will not clear his past record so suddenly in the eyes of his fellow citizens. It matters not whether the governor removes the mayor now; the final judgment must come from the voters of Salem. Removal now might gain the mayor some votes on a sympathy plea. It would be far better, therefore, for the voters to decide with calm judgment at the polls, than to have to make the same decision amid the turmoil that removal from office would occasion. Whatever the outcome now, since the governor did not act in the first place, the issue will not be settled until the voters themselves settle it. And the political phase of this situation must be dealt with as seriously as the moral phase.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to cure it, and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep homes without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it tastes light of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membrane, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of certain Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Why Housewives Prefer the "EASY"

Housewives prefer the "EASY" because its principle of air pressure and suction most nearly duplicates the work of human hands, but without rubbing, dragging or tearing.

The "EASY" has two vacuum cups which force the hot, soapy water by air pressure through the meshes of the garments and then by suction, draw it back again. This gentle yet positive action removes every last particle of dirt.

The "EASY" is the greatest labor saving washing machine on the market. It does the most work with the least effort. The big, open, polished copper tank is easy to load, empty and keep clean. No corners for germs to collect.

The "EASY" is made of the best materials—solid copper, brass, aluminum and enameled steel, in one of the largest and most modern washing machine factories in the United States. It is on the market to stay. The swinging wringer starts, stops, reverses instantly. Gas heater heats water to any desired temperature.

Ask us to send an "EASY" on approval. Let it do your next week's washing FREE.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of March 26, 1903.)

LEGION PROMOTES AMERICANISM DAY

Propose Day In Opposition To Radical May Day Celebrations.

Indianapolis, March 26.—In opposition to the yearly celebrations held by the radical element of the country each May day, the American Legion National Americanism Commission has designated the Friday preceding May 1, as "Americanism Day."

In a bulletin issued by Garland W. Powell, director of the Legion's Americanism commission, attention is called to the fact that there are many revolutionary organizations over the country working toward the overthrow of the government. In order to combat this element the bulletin states, it is necessary to arouse the people to a better understanding of the existing conditions. May day for years, according to Mr. Powell, has been used by the "red" groups to pour forth their destructiveness to hold large demonstrations and meetings, to protect against the orderly processes of government and even, at times, wantonly to destroy property and lives.

It is to counteract these efforts that the Legion is directing its attention to the nation-wide move for Americanism Day. Mr. Powell states, "This method of combating the radical element was authorized at the national convention of the Legion held in New Orleans."

OHIO ARBOR DAY PLANS ANNOUNCED

National Slogan Is Plan To Plant Another Tree During The Week.

Friday, April 13, is set as Arbor and Bird Day for Ohio in 1923 in a proclamation just issued by Gov. Donahay. The day chosen by the governor is the first day of Tree Planting Week, which has been set by the national "Plan to Plant Another Tree" organization for April 13-20.

In this proclamation Arbor Day is set before the people of Ohio as "a day when children should be taught some knowledge of those wondrous forms of life that, rooted in one spot, live, grow, exercise God's plan of parentage, and die. It is a day to study the bird life common to our state—to learn how birds help mankind and how friendly they are when undisturbed. It is a day to marvel at the instinct of these flying things, their knowledge of how and where and just what size to build a mothering nest, their sense of direction in the flights of fall and spring."

Schools and civic organizations throughout the state are called upon to give suitable observance to this occasion. "Let us all, mature and young," says Gov. Donahay, "on this day, enlarge ourselves by seeking better understanding of these other forms of life. Perhaps, some day we may communicate with them in ways not yet apparent to our finite minds."

County Employees Use Paint Brush Handily

Lisbon, March 26—Employees of the county engineer's office, becoming disgusted with the smoke stained walls and odor of charred wood that has prevailed in the drafting room and blueprinting shop since the fire in the court house basement, last week painted the walls and wood work. Despite the fact that they were unused to handling the painter's brush they did a good job.

Repairs to the vault in which the waste paper was stored and in which the fire originated have not been started. There are still gaping holes in the floor of the county recorder's office. However, this will be repaired within a short time. Matters are now up to the insurance companies which are expected to report this week.

MILLION DOLLARS
LOST IN FLAMES

Philadelphia, March 26—Firemen early today subdued a stubborn fire that last night destroyed the Garrett Buchanan Paper Co.'s five story building in the heart of the business district here with a loss estimated at $1,300,000.

For hours both the fire department and high pressure systems were taxed to the utmost to hold the flames in check.

STOCKS

FRACTIONALLY LOWER

New York, March 26—The stock market showed a quiet tone at the start today with most issues fractionally lower. Royal Dutch declined over one point of 49½. California Petroleum was in demand, moving up nearly one point to 100½. U. S. Steel advanced ¾ to 107. Most of the other steel issues were fractionally lower. Cuban American Sugar yielded nearly one point to 31¼.

The motor and railroad shares were inactive with small fractional losses.

Panel's Interesting History.

A gruesome story attaches to a Flemish glass panel of the fourteenth century, which was on exhibition in London, with other stained glass work centuries old. On the panel is represented the suicide of Judas Iscariot, with vividly circumstantial and morbid details. In old books of the period reference is made to a glass painter, known as Charles of Ypres, who is known to have executed a great part of the most remarkable work of the time, having hanged himself to a tree. This and other evidence makes it probable that the panel was the actual work of this very man. Another panel represents what is probably the only contemporary portrait on stained glass of Richard III. It recently came to light after being stored away in an Essex mansion for 113 years.

It is estimated that mankind at large consumes in the neighborhood of 20,000,000 tons of meat a year.

EVERY MAN SHOULD HAVE HOBBY SAYS
LISBON MINISTER

But Don't Make Work Horse Out Of Hobby Horse Says Rev. Scott.

"Every man should have a hobby. He should have a job first, then a hobby and the man who keeps his nose closest to the grindstone needs a hobby more than any of the rest."

This was the basis of an interesting talk by Rev. D. E. Scott, pastor of the Lisbon Methodist church, before members of the Salem Kiwanis club Monday noon at their luncheon meeting at the Elks club.

This meeting was in charge of Paul Holwick who introduced the speaker. The attendance prize, given by Solbert Grunberger, was won by Dr. R. E. Smucker.

"One danger with regard to a hobby is that a man does not want to ride it to the distraction of his friends. We must not make a work horse out of our hobby horse," said Rev. Scott.

"A man's hobby should not result in profits in dollars and cents; if it does then it should cease immediately. A hobby is to keep a man from getting stale."

The speaker, taking as his subject, "A Man and His Hobby," told of the various forms of hobbies with which he had come in contact, telling of the hobby of collecting souvenirs prevalent among soldiers during the World war.

It was announced that the three new members of the club would be initiated at the next meeting. The committee in charge includes E. V. Burt, E. E. Enderlin and R. L. Wright.

Divine Sarah, Sinking, Thinks
Of Her Future In Movies

Paris, March 26—Madame Sarah Bernhardt, who is critically ill, suffered a sinking spell at noon today. Two physicians were hastily summoned and injected camphorated oil to strengthen the heart action. They said that Mme. Bernhardt was "very feeble."

A pathetic scene in the sick chamber was described today by Georges Michel, an old friend of the actress. He visited Madame Bernhardt on Sunday. As he entered the chamber, Madame Norman, who is supervising the nurses, warned him:

"Do not talk to her too much. She is more tired than she will admit. Anyway, she does not hear very well now."

Madame Bernhardt, who overheard, broke in weakly:

"Yes, I have got a ringing in my ears all the time like in—that play I had such a frightful and disagreeable ringing in my ears—I can't remember."

"Have the moving picture people come yet? I find moving picture making atrocious. It gets irksome with the crank constantly turning and myself registering gestures without saying anything."

"The crank registers everything but the most beautiful of all—the spoken word."

"My friend, then why do you do it?" asked Michel.

"Really I don't do it; the others turn the crank you know," replied Sarah. "And then they turn the picture over again. It is so tiresome. They have offered $1,000 daily and besides I can almost go to America without leaving Paris—that is, my picture will go there. I would like to know what they would offer me in America if I would go there."

I would like to know what they would offer me in America if I would go there."

Madame Bernhardt, who overheard, broke in weakly:

"Yes, I have got a ringing in my ears all the time like in—that play I had such a frightful and disagreeable ringing in my ears—I can't remember."

"Have the moving picture people come yet? I find moving picture making atrocious. It gets irksome with the crank constantly turning and myself registering gestures without saying anything."

"The crank registers everything but the most beautiful of all—the spoken word."

"My friend, then why do you do it?" asked Michel.

"Really I don't do it; the others turn the crank you know," replied Sarah. "And then they turn the picture over again. It is so tiresome. They have offered $1,000 daily and besides I can almost go to America without leaving Paris—that is, my picture will go there. I would like to know what they would offer me in America if I would go there."

Let our minds this week follow our Saviour. Behold, we go up to Jerusalem and the Son of Man shall be condemned, scourged, crucified, but the third day he shall be raised up.—Matt. 20:17-19.

The multitude, when he was come into Jerusalem, said, "This is the prophet, Jesus, from Galilee."—Matt. 21:9-11.

Then cometh Jesus to Gethsemane, and prayed, "Let this cup pass away from me, nevertheless, not my will but thine be done."—Matt. 26:36-39.

When they came to place called Gogotha, they crucified Him mocking Him.—Matt. 27:33-44.

Father, forgive them for they know not what they do. On the first day of the week, came the Marys to the tomb. Lo! the stone is rolled away, and behold, Jesus met them, saying, "All hail!"—Matt. 28:1-10.

LUTHERAN CHURCH CONFIRMS SIXTEEN

Special Sermon Delivered To Class By Pastor, Rev. Mr. Rutzky.

When 16 young people united with the church at the confirmation service Sunday morning at Emanuel Lutheran church, the pastor, Rev. B. E. Rutzky, preached a splendid sermon, most fitting to the occasion when he used as his theme, "Building a House," and applied the subject spiritually.

Pointing to the Lord Jesus Christ who died for us as the right foundation on which to build spiritually, the speaker stated that "He is the Rock of our Salvation," and that if we build on Him we build not only for time but for eternity. "Faith joins us to this stone," he said.

Speaking of "living stones" as referred to in the scripture read, Rev. Mr. Rutzky, brought out the thought, that this life comes from Jesus Christ and permeates the entire building. "If one stone loses life it is a hindrance to the other stones. This is what happens when a Christian loses faith—a terrible condition to be in."

"Stones in this building are not picked up haphazardly, but must be trimmed and hewn. Man by nature is not fit for this building. God has to fit him."

"What is more wonderful than to be a child of God? We see how wonderfully gracious God is to come down and call us. There is nothing that we cannot do if we trust in God."

The church was decorated with spring flowers and the choir gave one special selection.

There were 17 in the class, one of whom was unable to be present on account of illness. Here are the names: Mary Schuster, Hermine Menning, Charlotte Rutter, Elizabeth Schmidt, Mary Hann, Anna Gottschling, Margaret Lipp, Katherine Liebhart, Katherine Hutter, Martin Werner, George Fronius, William Schuler, Rudolph Kloss, George Schmidt, William Fernengel, Michael Thoiss and Rudolph Salmen.

PRESIDENT PLANS TWENTY SPEECHES

UNDERSTOOD THAT HARDING
WILL ASK PUBLIC TO BACK
LEAGUE COURT.

TO GO DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Will Try to Induce His Fellow-Countrymen to Accept His Views, and Thereby Force the Senate to Indorse
Them—May Mention Ship Subsidy.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—It is understood that President Harding on his early summer trip through the country will make twenty speeches in twenty principal places. Men close to the administration say that it is the intention of the President to try to create such public sentiment in behalf of American membership in the International Court of Justice that pressure will be brought to bear upon the senate to induce it to sanction the proposal.

It now generally is believed in Washington that the quick transmittal to the senate in the last days of the last session of the Hughes explanation of the International Court proposal was prompted by two things, a faint hope that it might produce action at once, and the larger hope that the people would read the secretary's explanation, and would take it to mean that the administration holds it to mean that membership in the tribunal does not necessarily mean entrance into the League of Nations, or even the opening wedge for such an entrance.

Of course it is impossible to say what the result of the President's speechmaking will be, but Washington students of past situations which resemble the present one say that generally the people, if properly approached, are much more likely to approve the action of a President than to disapprove of a disposition to counteract by congress. The President, moreover, he is the President. Furthermore he speaks, directly and personally, and underlying everything that he says there is the basic appeal of his high office, an office to which the people have chosen him.

Would Go Over Heads of Senators.

Carrying out their argument the administration's friends say that congress almost invariably represents a variety of views, and that because of the conflict of emotions and expressed opinions in the two houses, the President, who has only one emotion and one opinion to express, is more likely to be heard by the country. Of course, all this means simply an appeal to the people over the heads of senators and representatives. It is said in Washington that this apparently is what President Harding intends to do, and his friends express the hope that with his gift for appealing speeches, and with the prestige of his high position, he will be able to make the impression that he desires and to reap the benefit thereof when congress comes together once more.

The friends of the administration's policy of entrance in the International Court of Justice admit that the first proposal to the senate was discouraging. There was only one Republican who, when the Democrats for reasons of their own proposed to give support to the presidential plan, was willing to vote in behalf of the administration endeavor. Of course the circumstances in this particular case were exceptional, and the Republican senators naturally did not want it to appear that they were following a Democratic lead in the matter.

Woodrow Wilson when he was President was stricken while making a tour of the country on behalf of his League of Nations proposal. He had made only a few speeches of appeal to the people before illness overtook him. His attempt to influence public opinion was considered a failure afterwards because of the circumstances of the great Republican victory in 1920. Friends of the League of Nations proposal, however, say that President Wilson was not given half a chance to get the matter thoroughly before the people.

President Harding intends to go to the people and to make his appeal in an attempt to induce his fellow-countrymen to accept his views, and directly or indirectly, to induce the senate to indorse them. His speeches will be made long after the delivery of the proposal to the senate was made.

May Mention Ship Subsidy.

While Washington does not know definitely, it is believed that President Harding may call attention to the seeming fact that the majority of senators favored the ship subsidy bill, and that he may possibly say some things about the manner of the bill's death. It is not believed, however, in Washington that President Harding thinks that he can so influence the country in the subsidy matter as to give any thing like assurance that the next congress will sanction the bill if it were again presented. It seems probable, therefore, that ship subsidy will not be heard from again certainly for a long time to come.

So far as the International Court of Justice matter is concerned the administration, being charged with the work of conducting diplomatic proceedings on its initiative, can go ahead with arrangements for entrance into the court if it so chooses, and then later once again can ask for the senate's permission to close the deal.

"Since taking the Tanlac treatment my digestion is amazing, my appetite is the envy of the family, and I have actually gained forty-six pounds," was the remarkable statement made the other day by Mrs. James Salter, 343 S. Third st., Ironton, Ohio.

"I was in wretched health for over three years. I had no appetite and even the little I did eat soured, gas bloated me terribly, and my heart fluttered and palpitated so that I was afraid I had heart trouble. I was weak and listless, felt unfit for any task, and could get no restful sleep.

"But now, thanks to Tanlac I could not wish for better health. When I got rid of stomach trouble I also got rid of what I had thought was heart trouble, for since my indigestion stopped I have had no more of those dreadful spells of palpitation. My daughter and my brother also have been greatly benefited by Tanlac, and it has been the favorite medicine in our family for several years. I cannot praise it too highly."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Stills On Exhibit In Mayor's Office

The five stills shown in the picture were taken in one week during raiding activities of the Salem police. They are all copper and of the most modern type now in use. They are shown in the office of Mayor Post set up for operation, the only missing parts being the barrels of water used to condense the steam after it leaves the still and passes through the coils to the jugs. More than 200 gallons of whisky and about 400 gallons of mash were confiscated by the police in connection with the finding of these stills.

DONAHEY PRODS LEGISLATORS

Asks for Action Upon Some of His Recommendations.

NONE CARRIED INTO EFFECT

Further Consideration of Brown Gasoline Tax Bill Set by the House For Tuesday — General Appropriations and Other Important Measures Acted Upon by the General Assembly—Several New Bills In.

Columbus, March 26. — Governor Donahay sent a special message to the legislature declaring that so far none of his recommendations to the assembly have been followed out. He urged that five specific recommendations of his be acted upon. They were: Re-establishment of the bi-partisan board of administration and the bi-partisan parole board, the establishment of another brick plant, and transferring the issuing of automobile license tags to the state penitentiary from the secretary of state. The governor said: "Thus far none of the recommendations made in my message have been carried into effect by the general assembly. No bill embracing any of my suggestions has passed either house of the legislature; in fact, most of them are still in committee, where they have received scant consideration."

"Because of the limitations of all of us, it was perhaps too much to expect that all my recommendations, however urgently they may have appeared to me, would be carried into legislative enactment. On the other hand, we have each received our commissions from a common source—a source that has the supreme right to demand of us that harmonious service which makes for the common good. Out of the promptings both of desire and duty, each day, I give executive sanction to some of your legislative acts—an overwhelming majority of them in fact. May I ask, not for myself, but for our constituents, and before it is too late, that same courtesy I gladly extend?"

Further consideration of the Brown gasoline tax bill has been scheduled by the house for next Tuesday, when it will come up as a special order of business. The bill, defeated Thursday, was brought up Friday under reconsideration proceedings, it being planned by its proponents to save the measure from defeat by reducing the tax from 2 cents to 1 cent a gallon. The change found some of the former opponents converted and a few of its proponents alienated. It then developed, through an announcement by Majority Leader Dunn, that an amendment introduced Thursday by Representative Knapp of Medina county and rejected because it conflicted with the provisions of the Freeman bus and truck tax bill, had been remedied so that no conflict remained. This proposal would reduce the annual license tax paid by passenger auto owners to a flat rate of $5. In the belief that support could be won for the original 2-cent tax by such a reduction.

It was declared from the floor that a gasoline tax appealed to most citizens as a fair and equitable means of taxing automobiles for road maintenance purposes, if it could be provided for without superimposing it on a high license tax. Members argued in favor of reducing the license fee and giving the gas tax a tryout.

The situation, as it now appears, involves three ideas. One of these holds for a 2-cent tax with a modified license tax; a second would leave the license tax as it is and impose a 1-cent gas tax, while a third would have none of either of the changes. Opponents of the measure still maintain that it will be defeated in whatever form it may be presented at last.

Two important amendments to the gas bill have been adopted. One, offered by Minority Leader Atkinson, requires gasoline filling stations to install visible tanks on their pumps to enable the motorist to have ocular evidence that he is not being given short measure; the other, by Representative Taft of Cincinnati, provides for the division of the revenue raised by the proposed tax on the basis of 30 per cent to the cities, 30 per cent to counties for county roads and 40 per cent to the counties for state roads.

Carrying appropriations in excess of $72,000,000 for the two year period, the general money bill was passed by the house and sent to the senate, the final conclusions to be worked out by a conference committee. Chairman Silver of the house finance committee said that the measure carried appropriations for the Kent normal school, but intimated that further legislation dealing with that school would be offered later. Amendments which Silver said were to make certain that highways appropriations were to be taken from a certain fund and to permit the state to take over Longview Hospital, Hamilton county, were made in the bill.

The house also passed the Freeman bill, which provides for regulation of motor buses and trucks by the state utilities commission and for a graduation form of taxation based on the horsepower and weight. The bill requires bus and truck companies to obtain certificates of necessity from the commission before they are allowed to operate and to file policies of liability insurance covering injury or death to passengers and destruction to property which they may cause. It is understood that the bus and truck companies approved the schedules of provisions in the bill.

Members of the house highways committee recommended for passage legislation which it is claimed will result in the elimination of hundreds of death trap railroad grade crossings in Ohio. The bill was introduced by Representative John G. Fischer of Cuyahoga county and empowers the state highway commissioner to order the abolishment of grade crossings on main market and intercounty highways. State, municipality or township may share 35 per cent of the cost while 65 per cent is to be borne by railroads.

The house taxation committee by a vote of 11 to 3 reported out without recommendation the bill of Representative Charles Brenner of Cuyahoga county, providing for the taxation of all church property.

Representative Blossom of Cleveland sponsors a bill virtually providing for a reorganization in the state welfare department. It abolishes the jobs of fiscal supervisor and pardon and parole superintendent and creates two $6,000 a year jobs, superintendent of correction, to have charge of the penal, reformatory and correctional institutions, and superintendent of hygiene, to administer the institutions for insane, epileptics and feeble minded and the bureau of juvenile research.

The present pardon and parole board is abolished. The superintendent of correction is made chairman of a new board and the director of welfare is given authority to appoint two full-time board members, at $4,000 a year each and four-year terms, to comprise a new board.

Two new bills were introduced by Evans of Cuyahoga and Williams of Lake. Evans' measure is a substitute for his bill requiring the washing and sterilizing of wiping rags for furnished factories for workmen's use, which Governor Donahay vetoed after it had been passed by both house and senate.

Williams' bill, drafted as a result of investigation by a committee appointed some time ago in Republican caucus to discover a remedy for the present "weak school district" situation, proposes to establish a county school district tax, with a limit on local tax for school purposes of 5.65 mills. County boards of education would be required to levy sufficient taxes to "maintain the schools of the district at minimum standards of efficiency," as prescribed by law, but not to exceed 4.85 mills. Proceeds of the county levy would be apportioned to the various districts according to their budgets. Purpose of the bill is to make the counties themselves insofar as possible take care of their own "weak districts" without calling on the state for state aid money.

Representative Kennedy's bill to require all corporations to furnish a balance sheet as part of their tax returns, was passed by the house by a vote of 81 to 17. The bill, although not heralded as such beforehand, was said by Kennedy to be part of the program outlined by Governor Donahay. It is the first of his proposals to be passed by the house.

A bill by Representative Green of Portage county, authorizing the director of agriculture to purchase additional land to enlarge the present state fair grounds at Columbus and appropriating $300,000 for the purchase, was passed by the lower house after a debate in which it was charged the state was "being held up" by the owners of the land under consideration.

The house also adopted the joint resolution by Representative Edwards of Cleveland, providing for an Ohio waterways commission to co-operate with the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterways project investigation. The resolution carried an appropriation of $40,000 for the expenses of this commission.

Under a bill now before the house independent political candidates, with exception of judicial, must file their petitions of candidacy before the primary date. The senate by a vote of 22 to 9 passed such a measure sponsored by Senator Liggett of Logan county. Senator Burke, Republican, of Lorain county, denounced the bill, which he says takes one of the inherent rights of the people away from them. "If the senate passes this bill and the house concurs, which I don't think it will," Burke declared, "the measure will be vetoed by the governor who will send a message back to us 'practical politicians' making political idiots of us."

Malcolm Jennings, secretary of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, declared before the house labor committee that employers of the state are opposed to the Hunt bill, strengthening and extending the occupational disease law of the state, because it leaves the determination of such diseases as are not specifically mentioned in the measure to the state health department. Ohio industries can not bear the cost of an indiscriminate system of this kind, Jennings asserted.

Advertised Goods Reach You Without Lost Motion

A big part of the cost of living today may be charged to lost motion, to slow, slipshod distribution of goods, and to old-style, wasteful selling methods.

For example, every year tons of fruit and vegetables rot on the ground, because it doesn't pay to pick them. Discouraged growers plant less the next season, and the supply of food is reduced. Meanwhile, consumers in the cities near by grumble over high prices. Demand and supply are not brought together.

Contrast this with the handling of oranges. $1,000,000 a year is spent for advertising by the co-operative association the California Fruit Growers. A large sum; yet it is only about one-fifth of a cent per dozen—one-sixtieth of a cent for each orange sold.

And this advertising has kept down the cost of oranges. To quote an official of the Exchange:

"The cost of selling oranges and lemons through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is lower today than it was ten years ago.

"In the twelve years since the first campaign was launched the consumption of California Oranges has doubled. The American consumer has been taught by co-operative advertising to eat nearly twice as many oranges as before.

"Had the orange industry remained on the old basis there would have been no profit in growing oranges. New acreage would not have been planted. Old orchards would most surely have been uprooted and other crops planted."

Advertising, properly done, saves money for the consumer and makes money for the producer by driving out wasteful methods, increasing volume and cutting down the costs of selling and distribution.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

YOU CAN'T ENJOY LIFE with a sore, sour, bloated stomach. Food does not nourish. Instead it is a source of misery, causing pains, belching, dizziness and headaches.

The person with a bad stomach should be satisfied with nothing less than permanent, lasting relief. The right remedy will act upon the linings of the stomach, enrich the blood, aid in casting out the catarrhal poisons and strengthen every bodily function. The large number of people who have successfully used Dr. Hartman's famous medicine, recommended for all catarrhal conditions, offer the strongest possible endorsement for

PHILLIES DEPEND ON BETTER SPIRIT AND FASTER FIELD

Addition Of Shortstop And
First Basemen Improve
The Infield.

Lessburg, Fla., March 26.—A faster infield and a better spirit. These are the salient improvements in the Phillies of 1923.

The addition of Heine Sand, $40,000 shortstop from Salt Lake City, and of Walter Holke, veteran first baseman obtained in an off-season deal with the Braves, have given the infield real defensive strength for the first time since Dave Bancroft and Johnny Rawlings were presented to the Giants.

The managerial debut of Arthur Fletcher has had its effect to date in placing the morale of the club on a higher plane. Fletcher is baseball-wise, a stern disciplinarian but with a good fellow.

There are, however, few material changes in the personnel of the club and whatever success the Phils may attain this year will be due to the ability of the former Giant shortstop as a manager.

The outfield is unchanged—Curtis Walker is left; Cy Williams in center, and Cliff Lee is right. Johnny Noman will be one of the utility shepherds of the outer pastures. The remaining sub post lies between Ted Donney, a sparkling star from Philadelphia's Twilight league and Leo Kane, for the last three seasons a member of the Hartford club of the Eastern league.

The fielding and throwing of Sand has been the sensation of the camp. Holke is a big improvement over Roy Leslie, last year's first baseman. He fields better and will hit at least 20 points higher.

The catching staff will be as good as it was in 1922. This means that "Dutch" Henline, the best young catcher in either league is still with the club. Jimmy Wilson, from Nez Haven; Wickey O'Brien, from Portsmouth, Va., and Charlie Connolly from Kansas City, are the recruit catchers.

There will be few if any changes in the pitching corps. Jimmy King, Lee Meadows and Wilbur Hubbell are the right-hand dependables and Phil Weibert, Lerton Pinto and Clarence Mitchell are the southpaws who are sure to stick.

LIMIT TRUCK LOAD ON COUNTY ROADS

County Engineer Lloyd C. Kirk has prepared notices which will be posted on several roads in this county limiting the weight of loads to be hauled over them during the spring weather.

The notice reads: "The loads on this road are restricted to 14,000 pounds total weight of vehicle and load." Violations will be punished.

Mr. Kirk stated that the order would hold good until about April 15, or until the ground had settled after the freezing and thawing of the spring months.

The roads that will be posted with these notices are the Calcutta-East Liverpool rd., Salem-Washingtonville rd., East Palestine-Negley rd. and the California Hollow rd. leading north from East Liverpool.

Belief in "Evil Eye."

Prudent Italians habitually wear a horn of coral or ivory on a necklace or watch chain. Carters sling a bull's horn under their wagons for the protection of their horses. Workmen, and even babies, wearing bright red caps may be seen in cities or in the country. These are victims of a "jettatura," or person with the "Evil Eye," and must wear a scarlet cap for a mystic number of days to take away the curse.

Even the most intelligent Italians are among those believing in the "Evil Eye." Giuseppe Verdi counted two of his fiascos—"Luisa Miller," in Naples, and "Don Carlos," in Paris 10 years later, in 1876—as the work of a "jettatura," Maestro Iale, of Naples.

Seemed Like a Shot.

A famous ball player was attending a little dinner given in his honor by a newly married couple. During the course of the meal he was asked to explain why a player picks up two bats when starting for the plate.

"Well," he explained, "you pick up two bats and you carry 'em with you to the plate. Then you drop one. It makes the other seem light."

While he was giving this explanation he picked up two of the bride's biscuits, transferred them to his plate, and dropped one.

The bride's face was a sad as he raised the other to his mouth.

Class Of Graduates To Establish Record

Lisbon, March 26.—From all indications Lisbon High school will graduate one of the largest classes on record next June. While the list has not been officially given out it is understood that there will be over 60 boys and girls composing the class.

The high school faculty expects to issue the official list of graduates in a few days. This class in common with others is issuing a school annual which has been placed in the hands of the printer. Each one of the graduates has contributed in some way toward the publication of the periodical and their pictures and records as students will appear in it.

The book will be ready for distribution about the first of June.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.
